Very often, regardless of how much we try, it seems that nothing helps us. We tend to spend a small fortune on store-bought products and products recommended by our dermatologists and doctors, but at the end, we are still stuck with acnes and facial hairs are still there.

A lot of you would probably like to a know a powerful method that will not just remove facial hairs from unwanted body parts, but a long-term solution or at least a solution that will last longer than the already available ones like shaving and waxing. Luckily for you, there are potent natural methods to resolve these problems.

The one we decided to present today is safe, all-natural, and painless. It is the long-looked-for solution to blackheads, acne, and facial hair. You will love it! Check it out below…

DIY Egg White Facial Peel

You will need:

2 eggs

Several thin paper tissues

A makeup brush

Preparation: First, break the eggs and separate the whites from the yolks and whisk the whites until they become frothy. Then, separate the layers of the tissues (cut nose, eyes, and mouth holes) and use the makeup brush to apply some egg white onto the tissue and then place it onto the face. Lie down and wait until the tissue dries off and then peel it off upwards and gently. Rinse off the face with lukewarm water and apply a natural moisturizer like coconut oil.
