But, new variations of the regular sunflower colours we know are slowly taking over the internet. One of our favourites is called the strawberry blonde- it's an amazing sunflower that everyone would like to have in their homes.

The stunning part about these sunflowers is their color- they're not yellow, but pink. This is the inspiration behind the name- strawberry blonde!

In the past, there were only several types of sunflowers; however, recently, the varieties have extended so much- you can find pink and red sunflowers!

Pink Sunflowers?-Yes, Please!

These hybrid sunflowers are an amazing choice for vases or in your garden. They're a combo of rose-pink and lemon flowers surrounding a darker disc. They form 5 to 6 inch blooms.

They want sun and dislike cold and windy areas. Often, it may need additional support to grow upright- you can opt for long stick or wooden dowels.

Whether you'll buy strawberry blonde sunflowers as a decoration for your garden, balcony or for a special event like a birthday or a wedding, they will always add a pretty vibe.
