Burke explains she goes every morning there and Ebony has been on the drive-thru for three years and always showed excellent customer service.

One day, Burke noticed that her favorite employee wasn't at work and she started to worry. She soon learned that Ebony and her kids were evicted from their home and are going through a hard time.

Jo Potvin, a designer, says that now's the best time of the year to spread joy. Dana Saxton from the Bank said that it's as much a gift for them as it is for the mom and her kids to provide this for them.

The family got a new, fully furnished home, and they spent Christmas and the rest of the holiday season in a warm place together.

Now this family has a permanent place for her and her kids to call home thanks to these kind people!
